

I oppose the BPL. The power companies now have a difficult time in reducing interference to licensed services from power line noise. This would only compound the problem. The Amateur Radio Service, CB, reception of radio and T.V. could all be adversely effected. I live in a rural area and would rather put up with a slow internet through the phone lines than have the interference. Life is stressful enough without this compounding it.